The Public Defenders annual criminal law conference is on once again at Taronga Zoo, Bradley's Head Road, Mosman.

Each year we aim to provide practical training on issues directly affecting the practice of criminal law in NSW by bringing together highly regarded and experienced speakers across a broad range of topics.

The conference is open to all criminal law practitioners and provides eight continuing professional development (CPD) points across the four required strands of ethics, personal and practice management, substantive law and advocacy.

Cost includes morning and afternoon tea and a light lunch.

Parking is available at the Zoo at very reasonable rates or you may wish to catch a ferry and bus to the venue.

Please send in your registration details and payment as soon as possible to take advantage of our "early bird" rate.

We look forward to seeing you there.
